

Normal Users:

This is the main page of our website. We decided to display our site mainly in two columns on the main page.

The column on the left is displaying the posts the users post and the right column has the top box office movies and the advertisements we put to earn money. To be specific, we have a navigation bar on the top below the search box. The users can click on it to go to wherever they want. The 'Recent Movies' page has all the movies in theatre recently and the 'Genre' page allows users to look for movies of a certain genre they are in favor of.

Also, there is always a button at the bottom right that users can click to go back to the top of the page.

Next, let's register on our site!

The users are required to have all fields except the admin code filled in before submit. When all fields are filled in the data would be stored into the database and the page would be redirected to have them login. Put in the username and password then you are logged in!

After the user is logged in, there would be a message below the navigation bar to greet the users. You can see there are 3 new buttons in the post. Those are our best functions to let the users like, save and comment on the post. The post liked or saved by the users would be displayed in the profile so it would be convenient if the users want to view them in the future.

Now it's the profile page, it shows the users' posts, the posts they like and share, their watchlist, and their profile picture. There is a 'edit profile' button on the top right beside the logout button, the user can edit their profile if they want to.

If the users want to post anything, they can go to the "Recent Movies" in the navigation bar and look for the movie they want review on. In the see more page, the posts regarding this movie will also be displayed.

After the users post their review, they can see them in the main page or go to the 'see more' page I just mentioned with the number of likes, saved and the date they posted.

When clicking on the like button on the post, we think it would be a good idea to direct the users to the page of that movie since they might want to look at other posts about it. Moreover, you can see the like on the left is increased. Also, in the profile page, there are the posts of that user and what they liked or saved.

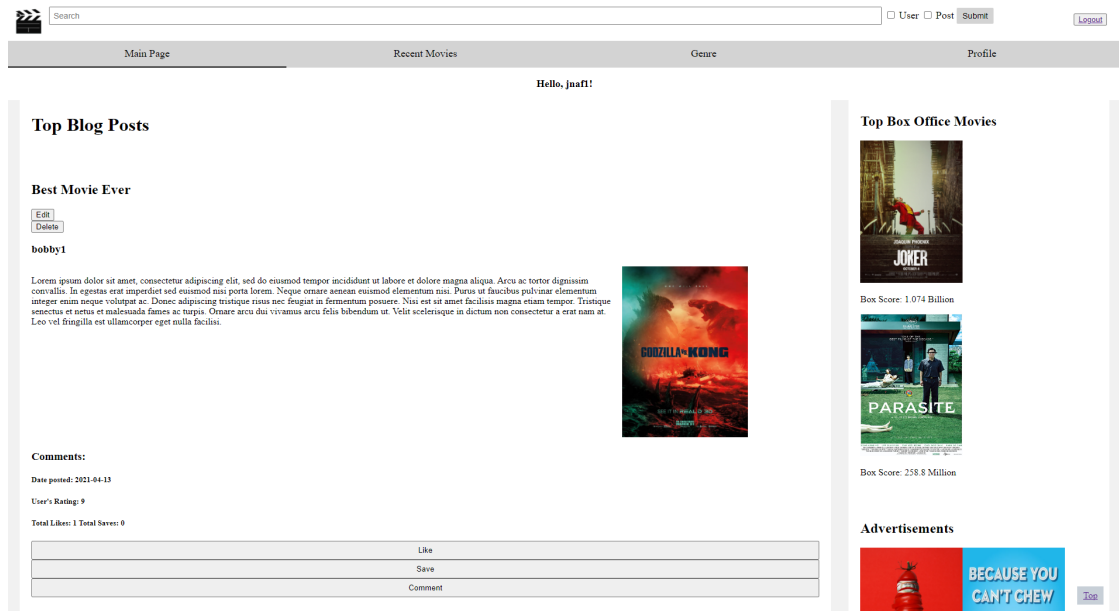

After clicking on the comment button, the user can put in what they want to comment in the text box and their comment will be displayed within the post.

Type in any word you want to search in the search bar on the top and select 'post' to search for all posts with the key word.

Alright, these are mostly our functions for normal users, enjoy!

Admins:

To be an admin, type in NDUIWPFMWI in the field of admin code during registering as the secret code.

If you are logged in as an admin, you can now search a user, edit, delete the posts and enable,disable a user.

To edit the post, click on the button on its top left, the original text will be inputted in the text box and they can do whatever they want with it in the new page. After they hit submit, there will be a message alerting the admins that the update is done. The delete button would alert the admin and delete the current post from the database.

For the admins to search for the users, they need to type in the user's full username or email correctly in order to find the right user. After submitting, the user's first name, last name and email will be displayed in a table. There are also 2 buttons 'Enable', 'Disable' below the user's data. If a user is disabled, one would be blocked from logging into the site. To enable the disabled user, just search for them and click on the enable button.

Thank you for using our site!
